PRICE FIVE CENTS.

CONSTITUTION AND SUN.

Evening Edition

ATLANTA. FEBRUARY 11, 1874

JAMES' HALL, Friday and Saturday, 50 and 75. Matinee Saturday at two o'clock—25 cents.

Though the majority of the audience were very skeptical in regard to spiritual agency, every one was completely nonplussed to account for the manner of the performance, for it seemed much beyond the most wonderful magical feats.—Evening Telegram.

DAVENPORT BROTHERS, Friday and Saturday, this week, James Hall. Matinee on Saturday at 2 o'clock

THE DAVENPORT BROTHERS.—They were tied in the cabinet, and the doors shut without any hesitation. Various musical instruments were sounded. Spirit hands and faces appeared at the window. They were shut in and tied, and came forth untied.—New York Tribune.

THE DAVENPORT BROTHERS put on a coat while rope-bound, while the knots were smeared with sealing wax.—New York World.

Two nights at James' Hall, Friday and Saturday. Family matinee Saturday afternoon at two o'clock 25 cents.

GEORGIA LEGISLATURE.

SENATE.

WEDNESDAY, February 11, 1874.

Called to order by President Trammel. Prayer by Rev. A. T. Spaulding.

RECONSIDERATION.

Mr. Simmons moved to reconsider the action of the Senate relative to the sale of intoxicating liquors within two miles of Duluth. Motion prevailed, and bill taken up and amended, adding also the town of Milner. Passed.

BILL READ SECOND TIME.

Various bills were taken up and read the second time and referred to appropriate committees.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

A communication in writing was received from the Governor.

HOUSE BILLS FOR SECOND READING.

House bills taken up and read second time.

HOUSE BILLS FOR THIRD TIME.

To amend act creating Criminal Courts in DeKalb, Carroll, Henry and Sumter. Passed.

RESOLUTION.

On motion of Mr. Kibbee, the message from the Governor was taken up relative to the claim of J. Bohrman, Johnson & Co., of New York, and resolution adopted that a committee of two from the Senate and three from the House be appointed to examine and claim and report the result of their investigation at this session of the Legislature. Messrs. Kibbee and Brown appointed from the Senate.

THE HOMESTEAD.

The special order was the homestead. Three bills were introduced into the Senate, the one being a bill to be entitled an Act to amend the Constitution of the State by striking therefrom the homestead and exemption provided thereby. This bill was introduced by Mr. Winn. Mr. Jervis introduced a bill, entitled an Act to repeal so much of the Constitution of 1868, so far as the same relates to exemption of realty and personalty to certain persons therein named. A third bill was introduced by Mr. Cain, entitled an act to alter and amend section 1st of article 7th of the Constitution of the State.

These bills were all referred to a special committee, who reported a substitute for all the bills.

The substitute proposes to alter and amend the 1st paragraph of section 17 of article 7 of the Constitution of the State, and for other purposes.

Mr. Jervis' bill came up in form of a substitute.

Mr. Hillyer moved as an amendment: Provided nothing herein contained shall operate against homesteads laid off prior to the passage of this bill, so far as relates to debts existing at the time. Lost.

Mr. Jervis' substitute then came up. Yeas 17, nays 23.

Mr. Peavy moved an indefinite postponement of the whole matter.

Mr. Brown moved that the amount specified in the original substitute be reduced. Value of realty to $500. Yeas 15; nays 25.

Mr. Brown then moved to strike out the word "specie" in the substitute. Agreed to.

Mr. Payne offered an amendment that no other homestead be allowed than this. Agreed to.

The substitute of the committee, with the amendments of the Senate, then came up and was passed. The bill as passed reads as follows:

An Act to alter and amend the 1st paragraph of Section 17, Article 7, of the Constitution of the State, and for other purposes.

1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Georgia, That the 1st paragraph of Section 17, of Article 7th, of the Constitution of this State, beginning with the words "each head of a family," and ending with the words "they are set apart," be so altered and amended as to read as follows:

Each head of a family, or guardian, or trustee of a family of minor children, shall be entitled to a homestead of realty to the value of one thousand dollars, and personal property to the value of five hundred dollars, both to be valued at the time they are set apart, and beds, bedding, and common bedsteads sufficient for the family, common tools of trade of himself and wife, ordinary cooking utensils, and table crockery, wearing apparel of himself and family, family Bible, religious books and school books, family portraits, the library of a professional man in actual practice or business, not exceeding three hundred dollars in value. But this change of the Constitution shall not operate to divest any rights acquired under homestead and exemptions set apart prior to its adoption.

2. Be it further enacted that no other homestead be allowed than herein contained.

3. Be it further enacted, That the above and foregoing sections of this bill shall go into effect and become a part of the Constitution of this State so soon as the same shall receive a two-thirds vote of two successive Legislatures, and shall be finally ratified by the qualified voters of said State.

Vote—yeas 27, Messrs. Brown, Cain, Cameron, Cannon, Cone, Crawford, Estes, Gilmore, Hillyer, Hoyl, Hudson, Jervis, Jones, Kibbee, Knight, Lester, Matthews of 25th, Matthews of 26th, Mattox, McAfee, Nicholls, Payne, Peddy, Simmons, Steadman, Winn, Wofford.

Nays 11—Messrs. Anderson, Arnow, Black, Brimberry, Carter, Clark, De Veaux, Harris, Heard, Peavy, Reese.

Senate adjourned until to-morrow morning 10 o'clock.

HOUSE.

House called to order by Speaker Bacon. Prayer by Rev. John Jones, Chaplain.

ORDERED ENGROSSED.

The Senate bill to amend and codify the several acts incorporating Dalton was read the second time and ordered engrossed.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

The unfinished business of yesterday being the consideration of the bill to authorize the Board of Commissioners of Mitchell county to issue bonds, was resumed. Finance Committee reported adverse. Report disagreed to and bill passed.

On motion of Mr. McDaniel, the House took up and resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole, Mr. Foster in the chair.

THE TAX ACT,

On motion of Mr. McDaniel the act was taken up by sections.

The first section authorizes the Governor to levy such a per centage on the taxable property as will produce $1,000,000 exclusive of specific tax, provided the rate does not exceed 4-10 of one per cent.

The tax on the agent of an insurance company is fixed at $15.

Each sewing machine company is taxed $1,000, for doing business in the State, and can have as many agents as they desire.

Railroads pay the tax of one-half of one per cent. on their net earnings.

Mr. Newton offered an additional section taxing every wholesale dealer in malt and fermented liquors $300, which was not agreed to.

Mr. Latham offered an additional section exempting from taxation the real and personal property of persons totally blind to the the amount of $3,000, which was disagreed to by yeas 63, nays 66.

On motion, the committee rose and reported back the bill, with the recommendation that it pass as amended.

The bill was read by sections, amendments agreed to, and the bill passed.

GENERAL APPROPRIATION ACT.

Mr. Nutting moved that the General Appropriation Act be made the special order for Thursday at 11 o'clock, which prevailed by yeas 70, nays 66.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

To authorize Boughton, Nisbet, Barnes & Moore to sue the State for printing done in 1865. Tabled for present.

THE HOMESTEAD.

Mr. Peabody moved to make the homestead bill the special order for Saturday at ten o'clock, which did not prevail.

The bill was taken up. The commitie on amendments to the Constitution recommended a substitute making the exemption of homestead $1,000 in specie and that of personalty $500 in specie, not affecting exemptions heretofore made. Substitute was agreed to.

Mr. Tutt moved to make it the special order for Monday, which prevailed by yeas 67, nays 45.

On motion of Mr. Anderson, two hundred copies of the substitute were ordered printed for the use of the House.

A MILLEDGEVILLE CLAIM.

The House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole, Mr. Reese in the chair, to consider the bill appropriating $378 04 to the Mayor and Council of Milledgeville for the erection of a bridge for the penitentiary. The Finance Committee recommended a substitute providing that $1,000 of the bonds of Baldwin county be given to them, provided the Mayor and Council of Milledgeville shall pass an ordinance relieving the State from any further liability. The substitute was adopted.

The committee rose and reported back the bill with the recommendation that it do pass as amended. The report was agreed to and the bill passed.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

For the immediate repeal of all liens given to dealers in fertilizers, and repeal liens mentioned in section 6 of the act of 1873 on the first day of January, 1875. Tabled to follow the special order of Friday.

To repeal section 1978, and paragraph 6 of section 1973 of the code relative to liens on growing crops. Tabled.

THE LIEN LAW.

On motion of Mr. Tutt the bill to repeal the lien law was made the special order for Friday.

MR. LATHAM

asked and was granted permission to record his vote on the Macon and Brunswick Railroad bill. He voted nay.

CONCURRED IN.

On motion of Mr. Fort, the rules were suspended and the Senate amendments to the bill amending the act organizing a Criminal Court in the counties of DeKalb, Henry, Sumter and Carroll were concurred in except to the one relating to the payment of insolvent criminal costs in Henry county, which was stricken out, and the bill was transmitted to the Senate.

THE SOUTHERN HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

Mr. Hoge offered a resolution tendering the use of the Hall of the House of Representatives on Saturday night to the Southern Historical Society, which was agreed to.

ASTRONOMY AND PHRENOLOGY.

Mr Atkinson offered a resolution tendering the use of the Hall of the House of Representatives on Thursday night to Prof. Wade Harrison, colored, to deliver a lecture on Astronomy and Phrenology, which was agreed to.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE.

Leaves of absence were granted Messrs. Stapleton, Leigh, of Cowets, Brantley, of Washington, and Cook.

ADJOURNED.

The House adjourned until 8 o'clock P. M.

WEDNESDAY'S NOON NEWS.

Cotham Glimpses.

CHEAP TRANSPORTAION — OTHER MATTERS.

NEW YORK, February 11.—At a meeting of the Cheap Transportation Association yesterday information was given that the People's freight road would soon be built across the continent, which would be managed in the interest of the people.

After the work is fairly begun it would be completed in three years.

The President of the Produce Exchange has been requested by many members to convene that body relative to considering what steps can be taken for the relief of the poor of this city.

A letter from Paris says, the recent suspension of the greatest of French Catholic papers, L'Universe, at the instance of Prince Bismarck, furnishes a striking proof of how complete is subservience of the French Government to German orders.

THE FEMALE TEMPERANCE CRUSADE.

A COLLISION BETWEEN THE WOMEN AND CITY AUTHORITIES.

NEW YORK, February 11.—A special dispatch from Cincinnati, giving some details of the woman's movement against the liquor dealers in that State says: At Waynesville an order has been issued by its Mayor, T. T. Dodson, to the Marshall, requiring him to disperse all bands of women found congregating in the streets or on the sidewalks. He declares his intention to have no more sidewalk or saloon prayer meetings in his village, and ladies backed by the money of many wealthy temperance people, no less determined by their intention to hold just as many meetings and offer just as many prayers as they think proper.

WASHINGTON.

BAYARD'S RESOLUTION—FURY ABOUT LOUISIANA.

WASHINGTON, February 11.—The House is legislating on Indian affairs.

Senator Bayard asked that the resolution offered by him on yesterday calling upon the President to inform the Senate if any officer of the United States army on duty in South Carolina had been instrumental in procuring legislation in that State to reward him for services rendered South Carolina be passed.

A long discussion ensued.

The Republican contains the following special from New Orleans: "February 10.—The Washington agent of the Associated Press sent last night, from that city, another two column sensational dispatch on Louisiana affairs, which all the city papers with one exception refused to publish.

The Republican commenting on this dispatch, says the Associated Press managers seem to be indifferent how uneven their Washington Agent carries his brains after dark, or how his palm itches. If the writer in the New Orleans Republican can give reasonable assurance that he is not troubled with Catalarp, he may as well consider his nose pulled at a distance.

Signed. M. W. BARR.

INDIAN TROUBLES.

OMAHA, February 11.—The excitement over the Indian war is becoming great. There is no doubt but that in consequence of the failure of agents to provide for them, the Indians are leaving their reservations for the purpose of providing for themselves at the expense of settlers, herders and ranchemen.

The following is officially received by General Ruggles from the commander at Sidney:

Wheeler and Merchant, reliable ranchmen, state that a party of Indians drove them six miles. Last night they abandoned their herds and came to Sidney. This ranche is near Court House Rock.

Cavalry will be sent to drive these Indians across the Platte.

The commanding officer at Sidney was directed by telegraph to send out all his available cavalry to Lawrence Fork and as far as Redington's ranche. General Reynolds, commanding at Fort Russell has been instructed by telegraph to send out two cavalry companies under reliable officers to the same place, thence to thoroughly scout the country and drive raiding Indians within reach of North Platte river and to take six days' cooked rations and sixty round's of ammunition with them.

The Siamese Twins.

THE AUTOPSY OF THEIR REMAINS.

PHILADELPHIA, February 11.—To-day the case containing the bodies of the Siamese twins, was opened in the presence of a number of eminent medical gentlemen.

The embalming process has not been entirely satisfactory in its results, owing to the fact that when the bodies were subjected to the embalming process decomposing was already far advanced. At the same time, however, it is believed the main points in interest in the case will be fully elucidated by autopsy. A number of medical gentlemen will be present at the college to-night, and steps taken to commence operations. Plaster coats of the bodies have been taken to-day.

MERIDIAN SCRAPS.

TOTEKA, February 11.—The House of Representatives to-day, by vote 37 to 26, passed resolution requesting the county of Amoracy to take steps for bringing to trial ex-Senator Pomeroy.

ST. LOUIS, February 11.—In the National Grange the committee on resolutions submitted their report, asking Congress to restrict the time and royalty allowed patentees, and recommend seven years be fixed for patentees to enjoy the benefits of patents, and they be allowed 25 per cent. upon the cost of production.

CLEVELAND, February 11.—To-day, in the Superior Court of this City, the case of Edward Lyle vs. Cayahaga Lodge, I. O. O. F., the jury returned a verdict for $10,000. Lyle, it was claimed, failed to deliver money entrusted to him for the widow of a deceased member of the Lodge, and the lodge issued a circular denouncing his dishonesty, etc., whereupon Lyle entered suit for damages.

ABROAD.

THE ENGLISH ELECTIONS — BAD WAETHER IN LONDON.

LONDON, February 11, 6 A. M.—Two hundred and fifty-four Conservatives and one hundred and eighty Liberals have been returned to the House from England, fifteen Conservative and thirty-six liberals from Scottland, and twenty-one Conservatives and ninety-four Liberals and Home Rulers from Ireland. There is much rioting at Chesterfield and Barnsley. Yesterday many policemen were injured.

A Conservative has been elected to Parliament from Wigtonburgh, defeating the Liberal candidate, the Right Hon. George Young, land advocate for Scotland, and who held a seat in the late Parliament.

The weather is very tempestuous to day on the southwest coast of Ireland and some damage to shipping is reported.

"St. Nicholas" and "Our Young Folks."

THE publishers of ST. NICHOLAS, Scribner's Illustrated Magazine for Girls and Boys, take pleasure in announcing that by an arrangement with Messrs. J. R. Osgood & Co., their popular Magazine

"Our Young Folks"

HAS BEEN MERGED IN "ST. NICHOLAS"

In addition to the striking novelties and great literary and artistic attractions already offered by "ST. NICHOLAS," THE BEST FEATURES OF "OUR YOUNG FOLKS" will be retained. "ST NICHOLAS" HAS BEEN ENLARGED, new contributions have been secured; among them

A SERIAL STORY BY J. T. TROWBRIDGE

Late Editor of "Our Young Folks," which begins in the present number. Other Eminent writers well known to the readers of "Our Young Folks," have been engaged. We are thus enabled to present to the public a Magazine for Children and Youth, superior in every respect to any ever before published.

Three Splendid Serial Stories:

"WHAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN EXPECTED,"

A Story for Boys,

By FRANK R. STOCKTON,

Author of "Ting-a-Ling," "Roundabout Rambles," etc. Mr. Stockton is one of the best of our American Writers. The scene of the story is laid in Virginia. The boy-hero has started out with a gun on his shoulder, and we may be sure there will be no end of fun and adventure.

"NIMPO'S TROUBLES!"

A Story for Girls,

By OLIVE THORNE (Mrs. Harriet M. Miller.)

A great favorite with the children. It is a good, strong, wholesome story of girl life, and will be full of interest for both boys and girls.

"FAST FRIENDS,"

By J. T. TROWBRIDGE.

One of the most popular writers for young folks in America. Readers of "Jack Hazard," "A Chance by Himself," and "Doing his Best," will understand what a capital treat is in store for them in Mr. Trowbridge's new story. All these Stories will be Splendidly Illustrated.

"JIMMYJOHN STORIES,"

By Mrs. ABY MORTON DIAZ,

Author of "The William Henry Letters," "William Henry and his Friends," and "Lucy Maria" (who has the rare and happy gift of knowing how to delight young people,) will appear during the year. There will also be Shorter Stories, Poems on Science and History, Natural History, Wild Sports and Adventures, Sketches of Travel, Fairy Tales, Poems, Puzzles, Charades, Jingles, Fun and Fancy, Instruction, Entertainment and Delight. Something for all from Father and Mother to the Baby. The Illustrations will be the best that the Artists of two continents can supply, and will be printed with the greatest care.

FOR VERY LITTLE FOLKS.

Our pages in big type and easy words for the youngest readers, which have been "a hit" from the first, will be continued. The children will be glad to know also, that the department of

is to be a permanent feature of the magazine. Jack will tell some of the most curious things ever heard, and make himself generally entertaining.

We have undertaken to make the best magazine possible, for the little folks, as well as those who are older. Every number of St. Nicholas will contain good reading matter for boys and girls of all ages besides a great deal of hearty and innocent fun.

Christmas comes but once a year, but St. Nicholas, the new magazine for girls and boys comes every month. It has already won the hearts of the young folks, and the little Children are Crying for St. Nicholas.

WE WANT 100,000

Children and Youth Made Happy

BY ST. NICHOLAS AT THE HOLIDAYS.

St. Nicholas, as enlarged, contains one-third more matter than Our Young Folks, thus giving a great variety for all. With its great Literary and Pictorial Attractions, and its beautiful Printing, it will be found to be the Cheapest Magazine in the World.

Subscription Price, $3 a year. The back numbers for November and December, 1873, will be sent to all subscribers for 1874, without additional charge. Four Months for ONE DOLLAR; twenty-five cents a Number. For sale and subscriptions received by all Booksellers and News Dealers on the above terms.

Money may be sent to us in checks payable to our order, or in Post-Office Money Orders, or in Registered Letters. Money in Letters not Registered, at sender's risk.

Jackson's Magic Balsam

—THE—

Great Master of Pain,

IS KEPT IN

EVERY FAMILY

WOULD BE FOUND EQUAL TO

Any Emergency.

THE PROOF:

ATLANTA, GA., November 18, 1871.

P. Van Alstine, Esq., Barnesville, Ga.:

DEAR SIR—You must excuse me for this outburst of praise for your invaluable medicine, and thanks to you for placing it within my reach. Let me tell you about it: To-night, after supper, I was attacked with a very acute pain in my right side. I had felt it coming on for several days, but it did not reach a focus until to-night, and of all intense pains, it was the worst I ever had. Having tried your Balsam before for different ailments and found it equal to any emergency, I went down suffering most excruciating pain as I went along, and paid my last quarter for a small bottle of Jackson's Magic Balsam. It was with the greatest difficulty I reached home. The medicine was applied to the hurting place, and in a few minutes after the application, I took my pencil, and while I scribble these lines to you the pain has disappeared, leaving me as happy as the usual sun flower, and another dose of the Magic Truck in the bottle ready for any pain that might arise. I only wish you as much good luck as your Balsam is efficious, and that is a great deal.

Yours truly,
B. W. SMITH.

A Virginia member has presented to Congress a resolution providing for the completion of the monument to Washington's mother, in the burial ground near Fredericksburg. Many years ago a corner-stone for a monument was laid with much ceremony by General Jackson and other notable men, but since then the project has remained untouched.

The English Opera Troupe organized by Parepa-Rosa in 1870, was the most successful that ever appeared before the public. In Chicago the gross receipts for thirty performances were $66 000; in Boston, for twenty performances, they were $75,000. In Philadelphia they took $16 000 in eight nights, and in Baltimore $11,000 in one week. At the end of the season she had cleared the enormous sum of $.50,000.

The following are the names and ages of the twelve most distinguished literary women of Great Britain: Miss Edith Wynne, 30; Miss Burdett-Coutts, 37; Florence Nightingale, 54; Eliza Cook, 56; Agnes Strickland, 68; Amelia Blandford Edwards, 43; Jean Ingelow, 65; Harriet Martineau, 72; Mary Elizabeth Braddon, 37; Francis Power Cobbe, 53; Elizabeth Anderson, 37; Milicent Fawcett, 27.

Individual Liability.

Three hundred citizens of Richmond, Va., are defendants in suits brought, in the Chancery Court, against them as stockholders of the old Bank of the Commonwealth, under the individual liability clause. The holders of $100,000 in the circulating notes of that long defunct institution are the parties plaintiff. They are principally brokers and bankers, who acquired the notes in question at trifling rates, and in Confederate money at that. The stockholders do not, therefore, naturally relish the idea of redeeming them at par in greenbacks.

The Bank of the Commonwealth exchanged, during the war and by permission of the Treasurer of Virginia, $163,000 of the stocks of that State, deposited as security for the redemption of the notes of the bank, for one Confederate bond of like amount. The close of the war left the bank hopelessly insolvent. The individual liability clause was repealed in 1861, and there are enough legal doubts in the cases to bring to the front an immense array of lawyers. The defendants compose a good share of Richmond's capitalists and business men, and altogether the people of that city enjoy a first-class sensation—at least, those do who are not joined in the suits.

Edwin Booth's Bankruptcy.

A great actor or a great statesman is not necessarily a far-seeing, successful business manager; nor is an A. T. Stewart necessarily a man of genius. The first of these truisms finds a fresh illustration in the misfortunes that have overtaken Edwin Booth, despite his enormous earnings, and herculean efforts to escape them. He made a heroic effort to establish a pure stage, and a theatre worthy of the largest city of a great nation; and during his whole career as a manager he never made the slightest concession to a depraved taste, although he lost money almost from the outset, and his property dwindled to nearly nothing.

The magnificent building in Twenty-third street passed from his hands last autumn, at which time two of the mortgagees were pressing their claims, and the taxes for two years had to be paid. The building has been carried along by the friend who took the title, but the five mortgages on it fully exhaust its value. The last of the mortgages was given as a security for the $100,000 due the Oakes Ames estate.

The schedules in bankruptcy put Mr. Booth's liabilities at $163,161, and his assets, good, bad and indifferent, at $61,155. Outside of "debts due" and life insurance policies, his assets are summed up in the following items: Clothing and jewelry $890, pictures and books $3,008, dumb-bells, etc., $500, chandelier in theatre $3,500, office fixtures $3,900, objects of virtu $450, stock wardrobe, much worn $3,000, professional wardrobe $1,000, billiard table $75, cash $3,117, Total $16,235. The cash value of this property does not exceed ten thousand dollars.

The failure of the great and popular actor, after a long struggle for the highest aims of art, will be widely regretted. But Mr. Booth's genius and renown remain, and they will soon put him on his feet again. He will draw greater houses than ever before in his efforts to reach the competency that is due to the man and artist.

Post Routes.

Col. Harris, under date of the 28th, writes us as follows:

I have secured the passage of an act of Congress establishing the following Post Routes in Georgia:

From Greenville to Hogansville, from Waverly Hall to Warm Springs and from Carrollton to Villa Rica. It only remains for the President to sign the bill, which he will doubtless do, and the Post Master General to order the service. This I will endeavor to induce him to do at the earliest possible day. Greenville Vindicator.

Must "Unload."

It is reported of Grant that he told a delegation of Radicals, the other day, who called on him in the interest of the Kellogg thieves, that it was time the Republican party was unloading itself, or it would go to the dogs; that it was carrying too much weight, and that Louisiana in the future must take care of herself, as he intended Texas should do! Now, we say, hurrah for Grant! But won't he have a good time unloading his party?—Franklin News.

The Georgia National Bank Case Settled.

Two years ago the State of Georgia brought suit by attachment against the Georgia National Bank of Atlanta, in Fulton Superior Court, for a large sum of money alleged to belong to the State and to have been placed by Bullock in that bank. The attachment was sued out upon the oath and information of Dr. C. L. Redwine. There have been various side-suits, and the matter in one shape or other has been often before the Legislature. Our citizens have been very much divided in opinion upon the merits of the case.

Yesterday it was ended, not by an angry trial, but in a much better way—by a fair compromise. According to a stipulation signed by Mr. Hammond, Attorney General for the State, Messrs. Collier and Mynatt for Redwine, and Mr. Akerman for the bank, a judgment has been confessed for the bank for fifty thousand dollars, which the bank may discharge by paying thirty thousand dollars, a little over half of the sum, at once, and the rest within six months.

The assets of the bank, which had been seized under the attachment, were daily declining in value. By Providential and other inevitable causes, there had been much delay and might be more. The defendant was prepared to make a most vigorous resistance, and whatever might have been the result of a trial, we believe that the present disposition of the suit is best for all parties.

We understand that if there had been a trial, there would have been a conflict of testimony between Gov. Bullock and Mr. Kimball on the one side and some of the officers of the bank on the other.

It is supposed that the bank, now relieved of a heavy litigation, will soon enter upon a prosperous career.

The terms of the compromise will be found in our local columns.

Narrow Gauge Railways in the United States.

The narrow gauge may be characterized as a railway reform movement, which claims as accomplished facts:

First, a saving in the first cost of construction of 35 to 50 per cent.

Second, a saving in operating expenses of 15 to 25 per cent; and

Third, the ability to reach sections where it is physically and financially impossible for roads of the broad gauge to be built at all.

The annexed statistics of construction are both interesting and valuable. The total length of projected narrow gauge railways in America is 5,268 1-2 miles (3,889 1-2 in the United States, and 1,379 in the Canadas) and of this are completed 1,816 1-2 miles—880½ in the United States and 473 in the Canadas, as follows:

The first year's operations of these roads has been highly favorable.

The Denver and Rio Grande shows net earnings of 50 1-4 per cent. The Toronto, Grey and Bruce 34 per cent. The Toronto and Nippissing 89 1-2 per cent. The Arkansas Central, for their short line of 64 miles completed, shows net earnings at the rate of $3,000 per mile per annum, which is far above the average of Southern roads for the same period.

These results have been achieved at a time when general railroad construction had been severely checked, and the operating expenses are those of uncompleted roads in progress of active construction.

DECISIONS OF THE SUPREME COURT OF GEORGIA.

Delivered in Atlanta, Tuesday, Feb. 10, 1874.

REPORTED EXPRESSLY FOR THE CONSTITUTION, BY HENRY JACKSON, SUPREME COURT REPORTER.

W. R. Phillips et al vs Jane E. Sims et al—Same parties reversed—Injunction, from Fulton.

WARNER, C. J.

This was a bill filed by the complainants against the defendants, praying for an injunction to restrain the sale of certain described property which had been levied on as the property of Mrs Jane E. Sims, on the ground that it was trust property and not liable to be sold in satisfaction of her debts, for the reasons alleged in complainants' bill. On hearing the application for the injunction prayed for, the presiding Judge granted it restraining the sale of the property levied on to the prejudice of whatever rights the complainants, Emily C. Sims, Sarah F. Sims and Jane E. Sims, minors, may have in and to the same, and refused the injunction to restrain the sale of whatever interest Jane E Sims, the adult complainant, may have in the property; whereupon both parties excepted. In considering the allegations in the complainant's bill, and the affidavits in the record in support thereof, we find no error which will authorize this Court to interfere with the discretion exercised by the presiding Judge in granting the injunction as to the rights of the minor cestui que trusts in the property. But inasmuch as no specified interest in the property was levied on by the sheriff as the property of Mrs. Sims, the defendant in execution, and the entire property being levied on as hers, it was error in the Court in not restraining the sale, as to her interest in the property until the final hearing of the cause, it not appearing from the levy of the sheriff what her interest in the property was, and could not be ascertained according to the allegations in the bill, until the final trial was had. The objection is that the levy of the sheriff does not describe what interest in the property he levied on as the property of Mrs. Sims, and there is nothing in the record which enables us to see what will be the extent of her interest in the property, until the rights of the parties shall be finally adjudicated. The question involved in this branch of the case, comes fully within the principle recognized and decided by this Court in Whaley vs. Newsom. 10th Ga. Rep. 74—see new Code 3,640.

Let the judgment of the Court below be affirmed granting the injunction, and reversed as to the refusal to grant it restraining the sale of Mrs. Sims' interest in the property.

Collier & Son, P. L. Mynatt, for plaintiffs in error.

Gartrell & Stephens, Peeples & Howell, for defendants.

Western Union Telegraph Company vs. Fain & Parrott. Distress warrant, from Fulton.

WARNER, C. J.

This case came before the Court below on an issue formed on a distress warrant for rent, under the provisions of the statute. On the trial, the following facts were proved. On the 1st day of December, 1866, plaintiffs rented to defendant three rooms in the city of Atlanta for the term of three years. The contract was not reduced to writing. The parol agreement was that the defendant was to pay $50 00 per month for the rent of the rooms, took possession at the date of the contract, occupied the rooms, paying the rent each month until the last day of February, 1869, when it left the property. The twelve nine months of the last three years has not been paid. At the instance of defendant, plaintiffs, at their cost, prepared the rooms for a telegraph office, and without change they are not suited for other purposes. Defendant notified plaintiffs of its purpose to quit the premises about two weeks before it vacated them. The Court charged the jury, "If it is conceded that this is a tenancy at will, by operation of law, the Court charges you that if the parties agreed to pay rent monthly at the end of each month, and at the end of each year, then this became by operation of law a tenancy by the year, and you will find for the plaintiffs the amount due for the time, if it be proved by the evidence that rent was paid at the end of each month or year, find the amount still due for the remainder of the year the parties were to occupy the premises." The jury found a verdict for the plaintiffs for $150 00. A motion was made for a new trial on the grounds that the verdict was contrary to law, contrary to evidence and for error in the charge of the Court to the jury, which motion was overruled, and the defendant excepted. The defendant went into the possession of the rented premises under a parol contract for three years, and was to pay $50 00 per month rent, paying the rent at the end of each month. This contract for the rent of the premises being a parol contract, and made for a greater time than one year, the law declares it shall have the effect of a tenancy at will—new Code 2380. A tenancy at will is at will of both parties, landlord and tenant, so that either of them may determine at his will and quit his connection with the other at his own pleasure, with certain restrictions and qualifications as to notice and emblements, as provided by law. Our law declares that two months notice from the landlord to terminate a tenancy at will, and one month's notice from the tenant shall be given—Code 2291. In this case only two week's notice was given by the tenant to the landlord. As the rent was to be paid monthly, the tenant was bound to pay the rent for one full month from the last day of February, 1869, because it had not given the landlord the one month's notice required by law, but it was not bound to pay rent after the expiration of the one month's notice of the termination of the tenancy at will, exclusive of the month of February, 1869, as the Court charged the jury. The defendant was bound to pay the rent for the entire month of February, as the rent was to be paid monthly and for one month thereafter. There is no evidence in the record that the defendant agreed to pay rent at the end of each year, as the Court assumes in its charge. Where the law expressly declares that this was a tenancy at will under the parol contract of the parties, and that a tenant at will may terminate the tenancy at will, by giving to the landlord one month's notice, how such a tenancy at will can, by operation of law, become a tenancy by the year after the expiration of the month's notice, is not at all apparent to my mind. If the defendant was a tenant at will, as it is conceded that it was, and to pay the rent monthly, it had the clear right under the law to terminate the tenancy on giving the landlord one month's notice thereof, and would not be liable for the payment of rent after the expiration of that time if it vacated the premises, but the defendant is liable in this case to pay the rent for one month after the expiration of the month of February, 1869, whether it occupied the premises up to that time or not, but it is not liable to pay rent to the plaintiffs beyond that time, as was held by the Court below in its charge to the jury. Where there is no time specified for the termination, and the tenant goes into possession of the rented premises, the law will construe it to be for the calendar year, but if it is expressly a tenancy at will, or a tenancy at will by operation of law, as in this case, then either party may terminate it at will. There is no sensible distinction between a tenant at will by express agreement and a tenant at will by operation of law, so far as the right of either party to terminate it is concerned. Is the the party in possession a tenant at will, either by express agreement or by operation of law? If so, then either party may terminate it by giving the required notice. There is no distinction recognized by our Code between a tenant at will by express agreement and a tenant at will by operation of law, so far as the right to terminate it by either party is concerned by giving the required notice. If the tenant at will in either case does not desire to occupy the premises any longer he can give the landlord one months notice and quit. If on the other hand the tenant is an insolvent vagabond or otherwise objectionable and the landlord desires to get rid of him, he is allowed to do so by giving him two months notice of his will that he should quit, the tenant being entitled to his emblements, if any, as provided by the 2292 section of the Code. It would be a remarkable state of things if the landlord could not get rid of a bad tenant at will, because he was such by operation of law. Where one is not a tenant at will, either by express agreement, or by operation of law, and no time is specified for the termination of the tenancy, then the law will construe such a tenancy to be for a calender year, but in the case before us, the defendant was a tenant at will, had the legal right to terminate the tenancy as before stated on giving the one month's notice to the landlord and stop the payment of rent after that time, it having vacated the rented premises.

Let the judgment of the Court below be reversed.

John A. Stephens; N. J. Hammond, for plaintiff in error.

Samuel Weil, for defendants.

McCay and Trippe, Judges, concurring:

Where there is a verbal contract for a lease for three years, at a stipulated monthly rate, and the tenant pays the rent as agreed upon by the month, it is not a tenancy from year to year under the provisions of our statute, and it may be terminated as provided in section 2291 of the new Code.

Isaac G. Mitchell vs. R. B. Butt and Jesse M. Butt. Equity from Fulton.

McCAY, J.

Where a note was given in November, 1863, for Confederate money borrowed, payable two years after date, and the jury, in adjusting the equities between the parties, according to the ordinance of 1865, gave a verdict rating the value of Confederate money neither at the date of the note nor at its maturity, but at a date intermediate between the making and the maturity of the same.

HELD, That while the verdict does not fully conform to our views of the rights of the plaintiff, yet under the rules that in such cases the jury have a wide discretion this Court will not disturb it.

Judgment affirmed.

D. F. & W. R. Hammond, for plaintiff in error.

J. M. Calhoun & Son, for defendants.

M. O. Markham vs. Elizabeth P. O'Connor, administratrix. Equity, from Fulton.

McCAY, J.

When a mortgagee is present at an auction sale of the property, by the mortgagor and it is announced at the sale by the auctioneer that the title is perfect and clear, or unincumbered and he fails to make any correction of said announcement, and a purchaser buys under the impression that he is getting an unincumbered title and takes a deed and pays his money under such impression, the mortgagee is estopped from setting up his mortgage even though the mortgage was duly recorded at the time of the sale.

Nor is it requisite that the mortgagee shall have failed to correct the false impression made by such announcement, with any fraudulent intent. It is sufficient, that to permit the mortgage now to be enforced, will operate as a fraud on the purchaser.

Judgment affirmed.

B. H. Hill & Son; Julius L. Brown, for plaintiff in error.

S. J. Gartrell; Collier, Mynatt & Collier; Jackson & Clarke, for defendant.

Thomas O. Jackson vs. The State. Assault with intent to murder, from Hancock.

TRIPPE, J.

1. If a jury in a criminal case be empanelled, and before any evidence is submitted, the Solicitor General discovers that one of the jurors was of the grand jury that returned the bill, the Court may, under section 4681 of the new Code, withdraw such juror, unless both sides consent to waive the objection, and if all the other juries have been discharged may continue the case.

2. To constitute the offense of an assault with intent to murder, it must appear that the circumstances connected with the assault were such that had death ensued the accused would have been guilty of murder.

3. A defendant was charged with committing this offense upon an officer whilst engaged in arresting one M——. The accused introduced witnesses who testified that M—— had surrendered and laid down his knife, and that the officer immediately called in others, who entered the room—some with pistols, and upon M—— taking up his knife, but making no advance, the officer struck him immediately several blows on the head with a heavy stick, which would, in the language of the witness, "have killed a man of ordinary size," that the accused, under these circumstances, shot the officer. The Court charged the jury that if the officer, in the execution of his authority, was obstructed or interfered with by the defendant, and in this interference the defendant did make the assault with intent to kill the officer, it would have been murder if the officer had died, unless you believe that the defendant had some provocation other than is set up in this case.

HELD, That the legal effect of the charge was to wholly withdraw from the consideration of the jury the evidence submitted by the defendant, and it tended in connection with another part of the charge to impress the jury that no matter what degree or character of violence may have been committed by the officer on M——, the defendant, was guilty of the offense charged. Though there was strong counter evidence on the part of the State, the Court should have left it to the jury to determine if they were satisfied from the evidence that the accused had reasonable grounds to believe that the life of M. was in serious danger, and shot to prevent him from being unlawfully killed, whether those facts did not affect the question as to malice on the part of the defendant, so as mitigate the offense of which he may be guilty.

Judgment reversed.

J. T. Jordan for plaintiff in error.

Samuel Lumpkin, Solicitor General, for the State.

L. A. Jordan, administrator, vs. George C. & Nathan H. Beall. Injunction, from Baldwin.

TRIPPE, J.

When the owner sells land giving bond for titles and taking notes for the purchase money, which are not paid at maturity he is not entitled to file a bill to cancel the contract and to recover the land and in the mean time to have a receiver appointed to take charge of the premises, on the sole ground of the insolvency of the purchaser if not appearing that the vendee became insolvent after making the contract of purchase.

Judgment affirmed.

Whittle & Gustin, for plaintiff in error.

Wooten & Simmons, for defendants.

The Western and Atlantic Railroad Company vs. Alexander J. Drysdale. Case, from Fulton.

TRIPPE, J.

1. Pain and bodily suffering resulting from a tort to the person, may be considered by the jury in estimating damages.

2. Where the jury may from the evidence reasonably find that there was any aggravating circumstance, such as gross negligence in the act whereby the injury was inflicted, they may increase the damages beyond a mere compensation for the injury done; and in such a case where the Judge who tries it, refuses a new trial, the damages given must be grossly excessive before this Court will interfere.

Judgment affirmed.

B. H. Hill & Son; Julius L. Brown, for plaintiff in error.

L. J. Glenn & Son; S. D. McConnell, for defendant.

WASHINGTON.

The Bankrupt Law Amended—Important Changes in the Southern Claim Law.

THE CONTESTED ELECTION CASE OF RAWLS VS. SLOAN FROM GEORGIA UP.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, February 10.—Gordon of Georgia introduced a bill to relieve political disabilities of Raphael Semmes of Alabama. Referred to Judiciary Committee.

Bayard submitted a resolution requesting the President to transmit to the Senate the information called for in the resolution of March 1, 1872, as to whether any officers of the United States Army on duty in South Carolina used efforts to procure legislation in that State to compensate him for services rendered in line of duty, and whether such officer was admitted to the bar in that State and practiced his profession while holding a commission as an officer. Laid over.

Gordon, of Georgia, introduced a bill granting aid to the Atlantic and Great Western Canal Company.

The Senate resumed the consideration of the bankrupt bill.

Merrimon, of North Carolina, offered an amendment giving to State courts the same power as Federal courts in executing the bankrupt law. Rejected.

Johnson, of Virginia, offered an amendment providing that notices of all sales made by an assignee should be published in the newspaper having the largest circulation in such county where such sale was to be made. Rejected.

Edmunds moved to fill the blank in the section in relation to composition with creditors, so as to provide that an arrangement for a settlement between debtor and creditor, in order to be valid, shall receive the signatures of two-thirds of the number of creditors, representing one-half the value of the debts. Agreed to.

Mr. Thurman moved to fill a blank as to the time when the provisions of the 39th section, as amended by the committee, shall take effect by inserting the 1st day of December 1873, so that the section shall apply to all cases of compulsory or involuntary bankruptcy commenced since that date. Agreed to.

Mr. Sumner offered an amendment to the 21st section of the original act as follows: "But a creditor, proving his debt or claim shall not be held to have waived his right of action or suit against the bankrupt, where a discharge has been refused or the proceedings have been determined without a discharge. Agreed to.

The bill having been considered in the Senate as a Committee of the Whole, was then reported to the Senate and the amendment concurred in.

Johnson, of Virginia, modified his amendment previously offered to read as follows: "All notices of sales under this act by any assignee, or officer of the Court, shall be published in the newspaper or newspapers to be designated by the Judge, which in his opinion shall be best calculated to give general notice of the sale. Agreed to. Bill passed.—Yeas 43; nays 11. Goes to House for concurrence.

A short executive session. No Southern nominations.

HOUSE.

Bill providing that on mail matter of the third class the name and address of the sender may be written, and also the number and name of articles enclosed, and there may also be written in or on any book or pamphlet sent through the mail a form of presentation, without extra postage being charged. In the discussion that ensued several instances were mentioned where documents sent by members of Congress through the mail, postpaid, were held for large extra postage because the members had written their names or initials on the wrapper. On motion of Mr. Hoar, the bill was made to apply to matter heretofore sent, and was then passed.

The House went into the Committee of the Whole on the army bill. The fourth section of the bill requires that all claims for stores or supplies taken or furnished during the rebellion for the use of the army, including all such claims now pending and undetermined in any department of the government, shall be presented before November 1, 1874, to the Southern Claims Commission, who shall have exclusive jurisdiction to hear and determine them. All claims not presented by that day to be barred. The transfer of the claims from the Quartermaster's Department is to be considered as a presentation of claims.

This section gave rise to a long discussion, and many amendments offered to it. The most important amendments that were adopted were one offered by Young of Georgia, extending the time from November 1874 to November 1875, and one offered by E. R Hoar of Massachusetts, for the appointment of two additional commissioners. An amendment offered by Speer of Pennsylvania, was also adopted after a long struggle, transferring to the commissioners all the evidence now on file with the Quartermaster General and Commissary General.

Beck, of Kentucky, offered the following resolution which was adopted:

Whereas, the First National Bank of the city of Washington recently became insolvent, and is now in the hands of a receiver in consequence, as is alleged, of lending to or placing in the control of a single firm the whole of its capital stock, as well as a large part of the money of its depositors, which is in palpable violation of the National Banking act, and

Whereas, the circumstances attending the failure of said bank and the character of the management under which so gross a violation of law could have taken place, demand an investigation to the end that remedies may be applied to guard against like frauds in the future, therefore

Resolved, That the committee on Banking and Currency be instructed to examine into the condition of said bank at the time of its failure, and into its prior transactions and general management, with power to send for persons and papers.

There was a brief Cabinet session to-day, at which all were present.

Several witnesses were examined in the Busteed impeachment case. Busteed is personally conducting his defense.

Nomination—Mrs. E. C. Bainbridge, Postmistress, Old Point Comfort, Va.

Argument before House committee, Sloan vs. Rawls, from First Georgia District, closed to-day. Rawls, sitting member, concluded his speech which he commenced yesterday.

THE BANKRUPT LAW.

The Senate to-day, after a weeks discussion, passed the Bankrupt law. Senator Edmunds, who had charge of it, having persistently pressed upon the Senate and refused to allow any measure to be introduced which might set it aside for any time whatever. The bill is very much more lenient to the debtor class than the old law, one of its principal features being that a debtor who suspends the payment of his paper cannot be forced into bankruptcy under forty days.

An amendment was offered by Senator Johnson of Virginia to-day requiring assignees to make public notice to newspapers having the largest circulation of sales to be made, which was agreed to. The bill further reduces the fees of bankrupt officers to one half that which they received under the old law, and provides that any arrangement for a settlement between the bankrupt and creditors shall be signed by at least one-half of the creditors representing one half of the indebtedness suits to recover all sums under five hundred dollars may be brought in a State court under another form; a Federal Judge having charge of the estate, and bankrupt officers are required to make full reports of all the facts in connection with cases coming before them The District Courts and the clerks of District Courts are to report to the Attorney General every year.

THOMPSON.—The man who runs Thompson's catables is a lucky fellow. He feels on the best that is going. Try him.

REV. W. F. MALLALIEU lectures at Loyd Street Church to-night on the "Bible."

MR. H. CLAY FOSTER Representative from Richmond, was in the seat yesterday, convalescing from his indisposition of the day previous.

NOTICE TO PATRONS.—We call attention to the official notice in anoth r column of E. Taylor, secretary of th. Georgia State Grange.

WANDO.—J. J. Williams & Co., agents, are now in receipt of a heavy stock of the celebrated Wando fertilizer. They guarantee the s a standard. Send in your orders at once.

OLEOMARGARINE.—As yet, none of this new kind of butter has been offered in this market. It would, perhaps, be an improvement on some we have seen exposed for sale.

NEW GROCERY STORE.—Messrs. Bibb & Chapman are opening a retail grocery store at 118 Whitehall street. They say they are determined to sell good groceries and cheap at that. Success to them.

PREMIUMS TO SUBSCRIBERS.—Sub cribers are responding to our advertisement, and agents are rapidly going to work. A large number of letters came in yesterday. We shall perhaps report in a few days what county is ahead thus fa', for the splendid organ.

THE BENEVOLENT ASSOCIATION.—A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Atlanta Benevolent Association took place yesterday afternoon at the Library rooms. A full attendance was present. The necessary by laws were discussed and adopted, and the various committees now start regularly at their good work.

RUINED.—I ruined my garden, and also my lawn, by applying stable manure on them, containing noxious Weeds of all sorts, thus filling my land with thistle, plantain and thousands of other pestiferous weeds. Hereafter I shall go to Mark W. Johnson, and get some of his pure superphosphate, and use that altogether, and advise my friends to do the same.

feb8-1w SCIENCE.

THE FIREMEN'S BALL.—The first grand ball of the Firemen's Benevolent Association took place last night. The attendance was large. Dancing ruled the hour from half past eight o'clock until long after midnight. A fine supper was provided, and the evening passed away pleasantly and merrily to all. The committee who had this entertainment in charge deserves many thanks for their management.

MEMBERS of the General Assembly please take notice. Contemplating that you will like to carry home a nice, beautiful present, I have ordered out, direct from the leading manufacturers, the first of the spring styles, which have been received and opened this day, February 10. The most elegant assortment of full and half sets chain and bund bracelets, ear rings (beautie-), royal and full opera chains, e c. I shall offer this new stock at prices that will defy competition. B W, BAISON, fell 3t No. 34 Whitehall street.

MARDI GRAS.—Excursion tickets over the Atlanta and New Orleans short Line, the direct line via West Point, Montgomery and Mobile, are for sale at the ticket office of Mr. J. H. Porter in the car shed. These tickets are good for twenty days, and the price for the round trip is fixed at the extremely low rate of $ 4 25. A train with through Pullman palace coaches attached leaves Atlanta at 1:30 P. M. each day, and arrives in New Orleans at 6 o'clock P. M. the following afternoon. Only one night of travel by this line—a fact that Mardi Gras pleasure-seekers will do well to bear in mind. This train goes through without regard to connecting lines, and thus all vexations delays are avoided.

FUNERAL OF MR. DUNNING.—Will take place today at 10 o'clock. In lingering round his grave his friends can draw a consolation from knowing that all his troubles are over, and that he is in the hands of an all perfect and benevolent God. In musing round his grave let us remember that the happiest, yes, all of us, are be ngs of no certain destiny but death, and of no steadfast hopes but in another world.

Poor wand'rers of a stormy day,
From wave to wave we're driven,
And Fancy's flash and Reason's ray
Scem but to light the troubled way,
There's nothing calm but Heaven.

CAL WAGNER'S MINSTRELS.—This popular and well known minstrel company will open a brief engagement here on Monday and Tuesday nights of next week. The company have always been greeted with crowded houses in Atlanta. The Montgomery Advertiser and Mail says of them: "The great negro delineator, Cal Wagner, closed his engagement in this city last evening to another good house. It is unnecessary to add anything to what was stated yesterday morning with respect to the acknowledged merit of his company. Nobody thinks of questioning that. It is a household word, but Cal is no only popular as a performer; he is personally popular with all who come in personal contact with him. It is, therefore, the common wish that he may meet with abundant success, notwithstanding the severe pressure of the times."

Reply to "Middle Georgian."

Editors Constitution: I agree with your correspondent in your issue of yesterday signed "A Middle Georgian," and strange as it may sound the suggestions which the spirit and tenor of the article referred to made on my mind were very far from pleasurable. Here we find an old man—one old enough to go back on his memory for pictures of men and things fifty years, taking int st enough in what so deeply concerns us, the official fidelity and honor of our State as to write you a patriotic effusion on this high theme. If men, generally in G orgia, really prized the qualities which enter into the character of the faithful public servant, we would not have to lament the rarity of the specimen patriot. The truth, sad as is the truth, our models of public men are now to be found in the frogging self-asserting and politic set, who enter public life from selfishness, hold on to it from selfishness, and use the public only as a lemon to be squeezed. We can waste whole sessions of our Legislature quarreling and jobbing over some trumping device to put money into men's pockets without work. We think these matters of personal or local concern grave enough and great enough to engage the noblest human power, not let a truly great and valuable suggestion be made for the advancement of the common weal, and I invite a Middle Georgian to help me out it the men who will stand still and listen to anything of so little concern as some plan that is foolish enough to help every body. No, no. We sadly lack a high standard of public morality and still more an elevated standard of statesmanship. It is very important that State aid should be voted to some insignificant little railroad that begins to shiver but ends in frost. All this is very dignified and important, but tell the Georgia Legislature that there are only about 400,000 sheep in this State while we ought to have five millions, and that the reason we don't have the five millions is, that the vagabond negro and pot hunter must have his bobtailed "yaller dog," and the cultivated gentleman with a purse will turn away from your pastry matters and leave such things to dreamers and closet men. And so with everything that has lofty sentiment in it—"that cheap defense of natives." Show me, sirs, how much money has ever been voted to this hour in erecting a monument to the Confederate dead? "A Middle Georgian" says some most complimentary things about Governor Smith, viz: Nutting and Captain Jack Jones. Against this I have nothing to say. I could say a great deal in full indorsement. But only so far as to say that Governor Smith has stood almost alone in his noble efforts to redeem the state. His co-workers and sympathis rs have been few indeed, and of all our public men he has been the most active and zealous in making suggestions and devising means for the restoration of our dear old Georgia. As a lover of my State, as a farmer, as a Patron, I honor him for his patriotic devotion. But I repeat, how few public men in the State have come to his help and stood by him. There, there is Jack Jones. I declare I cannot express the admiration I feel for that brave, true hearted, patriotic man But mark ey word. He too is a prophet without honor in his own country. He deserves a monument and yet I venture to say that men who stand confessed his beneficiaries (and we all are who are Georgians) will shrink when the time comes from expressing in deeds what they really feel of his worth and service to the State. But I sicken at the contemplation of the subject, and must hope if I cannot see a change in the public feeling and a, precaution during my day, that there will be an improvement in the next generation.

After granting a few orders the Superior Court was formally adjourned to its next regular term, which is the first Monday after the fourth Monday in March.

Commissioner's Court.

Another of the gang of counterfeiters who have been manufacturing bogus nickels above us on the line of the Air-Line Railroad, was arrested and brought here yesterday by the United States Detective office, Bangh.

This man's name is Thomas J. Harvey, and the field of his operations has been in Gwinnett county. The detective found in his house a number of nickels and a quantity of metal which he used in manufacturing, but no moulds. These nickels were made by Norris, and are well calculated to deceive. The prisoner was placed in jail and his examination will occur to day at twelve o'clock before Commissioner W. B. Smith. Marshal Dorsey carried his prisoner to jail for safe defense.

The Justices' Courts.

Justice Munday tried yesterday a case of trespass. The prosecution was brought by Mr. A. C. Evans, the rentin agent of Mr. G W. Adair, against a negro woman named Sallie Brogden, whom he caught stealing corn from one of his houses, near Dobbin's mill pond at West End. The prisoner was required to give a bond for her appearance before the City Court.

Justice Butt yesterday sent a negro to jail for burglary. His name is Thomas Wilson. It seems that Mark W Johnson had six guns stolen from his store in December last. One of the guns was found in the defendant's possession, and hence the prosecution. The prisoner was commit ed in default of a bond of $2,500.

THE LECTURE AT LOYD STREET CHURCH TO-NIGHT. Rev. W. F. Mallalieu, D. D., of Boston, will deliver the first lecture of the "people's course" at the above church to-night. We believe that this is the first visit of this gentleman to Georgia, but he comes with a fine reputation as a lecturer. He is spoken of as a gentleman of fine culture, and an orator of marked ability. The Chattanooga Daily Commercial, in speaking of his forthcoming lecture in t at city, says:

Rev. W F. Mallalieu, of Boston, was in the city Saturday and sabbath. He visited Lookout on Saturday, and preached in the First M. E. Church on Sunday.

From his reputation as a lecturer and what we hear of his preaching on last Sabbath, we suspect those who fail to hear him will miss a rich treat.

He delivered his speech at Athens, Tennessee, a few evenings since, and Rev. Dr. can, President of the College there, writes of it is as follows:

"Mr. Mallalieu gave us a splendid lecture, full of ripe thoughts and fine al cap tivating hits."

This time we are sure that the original Davenport Brothers are coming, and they were on their way to New Orleans, to open on the 9th, and having a few days to spare were prevailed upon to give two entertainments in this city. The Opera House being already taken, they will hold forth at James' Hall Friday and Saturday of this week. As this will be positively the last appearance of the Brothers in Atlanta all should avail themselves of the low prices of admission as adopted by the Brothers—50c, 75c, and even $1 on the gallery, with a 25c Matinee on Saturday. Seats at Phillips & Crew's music store.

THE LEGISLATURE.

"A little consecrated thing is this
Is relished by the wisest men."

In the Senate yesterday morning Judge Reese moved to reconsider the bill to authorize the Ordinary of Talbot county to issue scrip for the purpose of offering certain amendments to the bill. Whereupon Dr. Matthews rendered his speech in its favor, stating that salt was a local measure, and only a family affair, he hoped the bill would be allowed to remain without amendments, and is prefaced that the learned Senator should object to so small a matter; for while he himself was opposed on principle to meddling with the currency, yet as this is very different to a bill for a centre like Atlanta; and especially as I wish to have the Senator's position on the bill, illustrated also by a bale of cotton in one corner, and a beautiful lady in the other I don't see how he can raise so many objections to this bill, and if the learned and eloquent Senator from the 9th (Judge Reese) had not so earnestly pursued after this measure, I believe it would pass.

Senator Jones wished to know if the bill did not meet with other opposition than that of the learned Judge, for while he believed the Judge was a far-seeing and shrewd lawyer, and in some cases might be able to make the worst appear the better cause; yet in this case I believe he is clearly right; and I believe this bill is calculated to do great harm. The argument of the Senator who introduces this bill is based on the idea that it is a little matter. He does not attempt to meet the argument that it is wrong in principle, but admits that fact. He contends that it is only a family matter, and is confined to one county alone.

Senators, would there be any strength in an argument that admits it is wrong to steal a horse, but you may steal five cents? According to my humble notion, the same principle is involved in the one as in the other. So if it was right to defeat the Scofield bill, it cannot be right to pass this bill.

A certain great politician once said that a political blunder was equal to a crime; and in this case we are in this dilemma—we were either wrong in rejecting the Scofield bill, or wrong in passing this bill; and if we pass this it will only open the door to numerous others of like character.

The Senator knows there is no real merit in his bill, and the way it has been able to travel thus far reminds me of a little occurrence I once heard of where an old lady had listened very attentively to an eloquent preacher, and was much affected by the sermon, so much so that when the preacher came from the church she accosted him with tears in her eyes, saying he had preached the best sermon she ever heard. The preacher, flattered by her commendation, asked what part cular part of his discourse affected her so. She replied: Nothing that you said affected me, but you have the most dulorous voice I ever heard. I believe it is the Senator's dolorous voice more than anything he said that has sustained this bill so far. He has given an elaborate description of how the bill is to be gotten up; a bale of cotton in one corner, a beautiful lady in another; now he proposes to add another beautiful lady; these pictures might serve to d lude boys or young men, but for gentleman of mature years like the Senator and myself, I certainly would pr fer the genuine article instead of a picture of a bale of cot on, I would much prefer the real article, clean, in good order and r aking fine; but when it comes to women, I want nothing artificial about them, I want them to rank at least fair; I want none of your pictures, especially on shinplasters.

Those bills are not money nor can you make them money. It remin is me of another little anecdote. A certain coon one day f t his home in a hollow tree. On h s return he found it coupled by a skunk. Coon says, you don't look like a coon, you don't feel like a coon, and—oh! my nose—you don't smell a bit like a coon. Get out! So, Mr. Senator, your shin-plasters don't either look, feel or smell like money. I hope this bill will not pass.

Senator Harris hoped the bill would pass, as he had once had a similar bill passed, and wished to keep his record right.

Senator Peavy was opposed to the bill.

Senator Reese proposed several amendments and hoped the bill would be reconsidered that they might be added, so he could support the bill, as he was anxious to have the likeness of the author of the bill printed on the scrip, with a roll in his hand and this motto, "No scrip but for Talbot county." This, with several other amendments, he wished introduced. After some further discussion the motion to reconsider was passed by 21 yeas to 15 nays.

Senator Brown introduced a bill to provide for the building of a new Capitol.

Whereas, The Capitol building of the State of Georgia is not suitable for a capitol of a great State, and is inferior to that of most of her sister States of less wealth and material resources; and

Whereas, The old Capitol building at Milledgeville is in a dilapidated condition, and wholly unfit to be used for that purpose; and

Whereas, It is fit and proper that in this, as well as in all other matters of improvement and progress, Georgia should take her place among the foremost of her sister States, and should build such public buildings as would not only be an ornament to the place where they are located, but in keeping with her dignity and position, and would be a manifestation of that laudable pride which her people has ever maintained;

And, whereas, such buildings can be erected with the coveted favor at a small cost to the State, therefore

Section 1. The General Assembly of Georgia do enact, that it shall be the duty of his excellency the Governor, as soon as the term for which the penitentiary convicts were leased to Grant, Alexander & Co., shall expire, to cause one hundred of the said convicts to be selected for the purpose of quarrying and dressing stone with which to build a new Capitol in the State

Sec 2. It shall be the duty of the Principal Keeper of the Penitentiary of this State, under the direction of the Governor, to cause said convicts to be worked at some one quarry to be worked (to be selected by the Governor) in quarrying and dressing stone for the purpose of erecting a new Capitol, until a sufficient amount of stone shall be dressed and prepared for that purpose.

Sec. 3 The Governor shall have power to make such contracts for the same as may be necessary to carry out the object of this act.

Public Meeting in Clayton

JONESBORO, GA, February 7, 1874.

Pursuant to call, a number of citizens of this county assembled at the Court House to-day.

On motion, Lerkin Campbell, Esq., was called to the chair and C. W. Hodnett requested to act as Secretary

Co. W. A. Tigner explained the object of the meeting, which was to consider a bill to establish a county court in the county of Clayton, which bill is now pending before the Legislature. Cols. Byington, Doyal and Spence, also made appropriate remarks in favor of the bill.

Col Doyal introduced the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, we, a portion of the citizens of Clayton county, in Convention assembled, have this day heard the question of a County Court for Clayton county discussed, and the objects and benefits of the bill for that purpose now before the Legislature explained. And,

Whereas, for a number of years we have had to endure heavy taxes and endless expenses, arising in the manner in which we have been compelled to maintain prisoners, and the confinement from one term to another of the Superior Court as well as the heavy duty imposed on the Judges of the Superior Court of this Circuit. And,

Whereas, It is the sense of this meeting that a County Court, such as that contemplated by said bill, will be of eminent importance and benefit to our county; it is therefore

Resolved, That we memorialize the General Assembly for the immediate passage of said bill, and respectfully ask the Governor's approval thereof.

Resolved, That a copy of this preamble and resolution be forwarded by the Secretary of this meeting to our Representative, the Hon L. C. Hutchinson; also, to our Senator, the Hon. George Hillyer, to be presented and read to the General Assembly as expressive of our approval of the measure—believing that it will result in great benefit to our county.

LARKIN CAMPBELL, Chairman.
C. W. HODNETT, Secretary.

MASQUERADE.—The dimity, calico, cambric, silk, velvet, lace, flower, feather, and flubdubbery trade has been rushing with swift, resistless wheels in the city for the past few days. On every hand are heard the clip, clip of impatient scissors, and the whirr of restless sewing machines. Eager consultations are held with modiste, hurried visits are made to slaves of the needle; tiny gaiter boots go tripping from store to store, from milliners to mantua makers; and a ceaseless pitter ing to and fro amid prismatic labyrinths of man-al-tracting fabrics and incomprehensible wares, are the order of the day. Gentlemen are equally as much engaged in making their preparations. The Legislature, everything has been dimmed by the preparations for the masquerade to-night.

Everything that can tend to gratify the eye, ear and taste of those who attend, will be liberally provided. The supper will abound with all the luxuries and delicacies of flesh, fowl, vegetable, and confectionery. Music will lend its enchantment to the scene, feet will shake and skip with frolicsome antics and pleasurable excitement. Doubtless many strangers who are in the city will be present, and as it is the last ball before the Lenal season, many of our pleasure-loving population will be present.

Committee on Masquers—Captain John Fitten, Captain Henry Cottingham, Dr. J F. Alexander.

The maskers will enter the theatre by the private or upper entrance which leads directly to the stage.

The spectators will enter by the general or new entrance.

No person will be admitted upon the floor who is not in mask, and to prevent confusion, it is requested that the names and characters be written plainly on the cards which accompany the tickets, so that the

The committee of arrangements will meet at the Kimball House this evening at seven o'clock, and the marshalling will take place at precisely twelve o'clock. It is also requested that the masters be in the ball room by nine o'clock. Gentlemen are not to understand half-past nine o'clock.

With reference to the music we may say that we saw Professor Fraser yesterday and he tells us that the whole of his entire orchestra will be on hand. Some fourteen or fifteen instruments will take part. Few music has been purchased, and between the dances op ratic and other fine selections will be rendered. Everything betokens that this will be one of the grandest affairs our city has ever witnessed.

MACON & BRUNSWICK RAILROAD.

(SYNOPTICAL REPORT OF THE DEBATE IN THE HOUSE.)

Speeches by Peabody, Longley, Osborne and Phillips Against and Bacon, Butt, Turnbull, Simms, Hoge, Anderson in Favor.

The special order yesterday in the House was the bill to amend the charter of the Macon and Brunswick Railroad, and to authorize the extension northward of said railroad from Macon, and to protect the State of Georgia from loss on account of endorsements of the bonds of said company, and to provide for said extension.

The first section provides for the extension from Macon to the Georgia Railroad, at some point on the Georgia Railroad to be selected by the present Board of Directors of the Macon and Brunswick Railroad, and if the company so determine, extend it to Gainesville.

The second section confers all powers necessary to buy, lease, hold, receive and use property real and personal for the purpose of said extension.

Section third, makes it the duty of the Governor to manage and control the present Macon and Brunswick railroad for two years from the passage of this act, the State paying the interest on the bonds of said company endorsed under the act of 1865, and apply the net earnings to the reimbursement of the State.

Section four is the original bill, providing for free use of penitentiary convicts in said extension as stricken out by the committee.

Section five provides that the State reaffirms the validity of the supplementary bonds issued under the act of 1870 and said bonds and coupons subscribed to the extension at the rate of $10,000 per mile.

Section six provides that the Macon & Brunswick Railroad shall transport to Macon, free of charge, all supplies and material to be used in said extension.

Section seven provides that the State shall extend no other aid to said extension, now or hereafter.

Section eight makes the extension liable for the $600,000.

Section 9 provides that said Macon and Brunswick Railroad Company shall, on or before the first of May, 1874, sign fy in writing to the Governor their acceptance of this act, and if they accept must begin the extension before June 1, 1874.

The 10th section provides for the appointment of a commission of seven as a Board of Directors.

ARGUMENT AGAINST THE BILL.

Mr. Peabody opposed the measure, contending that it was but state aid in a different phase. He opposed the bill because it did not rid the State of the debt. The road had never paid the interest on its bonds; its earnings will not pay its bonds, and the road will not sell for enough to pay the bonds. He argued against the policy of the State breaking down the Central railroad, already established, for one already broke; that the Central road, upon the authority of Capt. Forsecre, controls one-third of the freight coming over the State Road, and could divert it to another channel by a simple telegraph to the Louisville and Nashville Railroad. The State will make money by not endorsing any more bonds. It will be worth a million dollars to us.

Mr. Longley asked of the bill:

1. Does it extend further aid?
2. Does it protect the interest of the State?
3. What security does it give the State?

The caption of the act is to project the interests of the State, while the body means money. It is Jacob's voice but Esau's hand. He contended that it did extend further aid; it did not protect the interests or give any security to the State.

These $5,000,00 of bonds were bogus bonds. The public faith was not pledged to pay them. The bonds were issued illegally and are null and void.

If the General Railroad is such a great monopoly throw restrictions around it. Believing that the state would not be protected under this bill he would vote for Mr. Phillips' substitute.

Mr. Osborne thought it was better to sell the road than stop on the Georgia hoad. He thought the road could be made a success by extending it through North Georgia to the North Carolina line.

Mr Phillips felt impelled by a sense of public duty to offer his substitute that the Governor proceed in good faith to sell the road. We all knew the dangers of State aid. The $600,000 of bonds were never legally negotiated by the company. If the bonds are illegal, why make them legal? By the extension you increase the debt for interest $237,000. The extension will not pay. It is bemused in by the Macon and Augusta and the Montfort and Griffin railroads. The best plan is to sell the road, pay off the bonds, and relieve the people of this "huge elephant" now on their hands.

ARGUMENT FOR THE BILL.

Speaker Bacon, at the urgent demand of his constituents turned aside from the rule laid down by himself on accepting the position of Speaker, and occupied the floor in debate. His effort was a masterly one, and is justly considered by all the crowning speech of his life. Macon has reason to be proud of him.

The pecuniary advantage to the State demanded the passage of the bill.

The State was admitted to be liable for the $1,900,000. Some contended that she was not liable on the $600,000. The State was liable for principal and interest. If the road was sold, it would not sell for more than a million. Will you sacrifice a million and a half by a sale? If extended to Atlanta it will be to the interest of Atlanta to sustain it. Atlanta is no village that the Central Railroad can dictate terms to. She tried it on Macon and failed. The State hold the road for two years. She has it now, and will have to keep it, unless she can sell it. If you can't sell it for $1,500,000 and don't pass this bill, won't the Governor have to hold it? If the State owes the $600,000 she has nothing to lose.

A Legislature, elected by the people, unanimously adopted a resolution declaring these bonds valid and binding, which was assented to by the Governor. The people of about two thirds of the territory of the State ask for relief from the control of one corporation. Let the Macon and Brunswick Railroad fall into the hands of the Central, and the Atlantic and Gulf will fol ow in quick succession.

When the Central Railroad was built Savannah contributed $200,000 and Macon $250,000 in gold, and lost it. Macon had stood friend to that road in her hour of need. It was our solemn duty to foster rival enterprises. It was the policy of Georgia as enunciated by the Supreme Court. The State had chartered the Atlantic and Gulf, the Macon and Brunswick, and Macon and Augusta Railroads.

Macon is at the mercy of the Central Railroad, although she has six roads running into her. As an illustration, he cited a case where a house was shipped from Sparta to Columbus. At Macon the Central Railroad refused to forward the horse unless the Macon and Augusta Railroad paid the freight. The horse was kept in a livery stable one month, and the Columbus man rode his horse home rather than ship it over the road. The Central Railroad requires of the Macon and Brunswick Railroad to haul their cotton in drays, and will not allow a loaded Macon and Brunswick Railroad car to pass over their road, unless it be lumber or shingles. The Central Railroad threatens to divert one-third of the freight from State Road if this bill passes. The lease of the Muscogee Railroad was illegal, and the Central had better beware how they threaten. (Applause.)

Mr. Simms made his maiden speech. He is an earnest and effective speaker. He supported his amendment making Covington the objective point, because it was the shortest and cheapest line and would be entitled to the Green Line cars. This route would bring the Macon and Brunswick Railroad into Atlanta on equal terms with the Central.

Mr. Turnbull proposed, as other able gentlemen were to follow him, to be brief. The State was liable for the $2,500,000. Will you bankrupt the State to promote the interests of a single corporation? The great desideratum is a cheap through line from the lakes to the South Atlantic coast. He withdrew his amendment, and favored making the objective point wherever the wants of the country demanded it.

Mr. Hoge agreed with Mr. Bacon fully as to the liability of the state on the $600,000. The legislature definitely settled that question. If the Macon and Brunswick railroad had an outlet it will be available. Strangled to-day it is worth a million, with an outlet it will be worth a million and a half. The only security for the $600,000 now is on the M. & B. R. R.

The extension increases the security. By extending the road to Atlanta you get between 200 and 300 miles more security, and have a direct trunk line from Chattanooga to the seaboard. The route to Macon would be down the banks of the Ocmulgee, and the line would be subject to freshets.

Mr. Butt desired the passage of the bill. He favored the release of the people from the relentless grasp of a monopoly, and was opposed to the contracted view of giving the road away. He wanted the State secure however.

Mr. Anderson could see nothing proposed for the relief of the people by the opponents of the bill. He appealed to members to vote fair and square on the bill. If they approved vote for it, if they did not vote against it. It was no

Atlanta Benevolent Association

Article 1. This society shall be called the Atlanta Benevolent Association.

Article 2. The object of the Association shall be to relieve the sufferings and wants of the destitute and afflicted of this city; to meliorate, supersede the and to promote their physical and for the relief of happiness. But the Association is devoted on them, work of the churches largely, and cannot be transtheir own poor, since the association.

by the Author of all actions of benevolence are differred to any people, in the providence of God.

Article 3. It persons whose condition renders vinely the spirit of charity, and affords opportunity to them and merciful for doing good. "For the poor shall never cease out of the land." "The poor ye have always with you; and whensoever ye will ye may do them good." By the poor are understood not only the indigent and impoverished, but all classes of our suffering humanity.

Article 4. The law of labor is also divinely imposed. "In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread," is the stern decree with reference to our fallen race. It is the duty of every one, in health and strength, to work, and by honest labor and industry earn his own living, as well as provide for those dependent on him. This law is a part of christianity, since it is plainly declared "that if any would not work, neither shall he eat." The Association do not consider that healthy able-bodied persons, who can find employment, are objects of charity. They will leave such to provide for themselves and confine their efforts to those in actual distress, especially to widows and orphans in their afflictions, to the sick, diseased, and disabled, to the aged, helpless and infirm. But when necessary, the Association will assist those who are unoccupied and will set to work to procure employment as a means of subsistence.

Art. 5. The work of the Association shall be carried on with a view to diminish pauperism and its attendant evils; to discourage idleness, vagrancy, street begging, vice and immorality; to excite and foster in the poor a spirit of honorable independence, to stimulate them to habits of industry, and of reliance on their own exertions for support.

Article 6. This Association shall be empowered, whenever it is thought to be advisable, to obtain a legal charter of incorporation in order to hold real estate, establish, conduct, and manage houses of industry and homes for the poor, the friendless and the afflicted, and to carry out such designs and schemes of usefulness as may be in harmony with its purposes and constitutions.

Article 7. Every person paying one dollar shall be considered a member of the Association for one year. The payment of five, ten, fifteen, twenty, or twenty five dollars at one time shall constitute the donor an honorary member. The payment of fifty dollars at one time shall entitle the giver to the name of patron, while the payment of a hundred dollars at one time shall constitute a life member.

Article 8. The officers of the Association shall be for ty ladies and forty gentlemen, and shall consist of a President, one Vice President for each ward, a Secretary and a Treasurer, together with an Executive Committee of five persons, all of whom shall constitute a Board of Managers to be chosen annually by the Association. The President, Treasurer, and three members of the Executive Committee, shall be gentlemen. The Vice-Presidents, Secretary and two members of the Executive Committee shall be ladies. Official vacancies that may occur between the annual meetings may be filled at any meeting of the Board Managers by their own vote.

Article 9. The board of managers shall have the general control of the work of the Association, with power to solicit funds and appoint collecting agents; to receive and disburse all moneys, groceries, fuel, provisions and articles of every description donated for the use of the Association; and to frame the necessary rules and regulations by which the operations of the Association shall be carried on. The board shall divide the city into sections corresponding in size and boundaries with the several wards, and shall subdivide each ward into smaller districts, and shall appoint a permanent visiting committee for each district. The Vice Presidents for each ward shall have the supervision of the visiting committees. It shall be the duty of these committees to search out and ascertain the condition of those that need assistance in their respective districts, and to apply such relief as the Board of Managers shall direct. But if they find persons in want or distress, who are members of any church in the city, they shall report them to the pastor of the church to which they belong, in order that they may be taken care of by the church.

Article 10. The Board of Managers shall be accountable to the Association, and at each annual meeting shall make a full report of all that has been done during the year.

Article 11. The annual meeting of the Association, for the election of a Board of Managers and the transaction of other business shall be held on the first Thursday in June, in every year.

Article 12. This Constitution may be changed at any annual meeting of the Association, by a vote of two-thirds of the members who may be present and vote.

WHY WILL YE DIE?—Death, or what is worse, is the inevitable result of continued suspension of the menstrual flow. It is a condition which should not be trifled with. Immediate relief is the only safeguard against constitutional ruin. In all cases of suppression, suspension or other irregularity of the 'courses," Dr. J. Bradfield's Female Regulator is the only sure remedy. It acts by giving tone to the nervous centres, improving the blood and determining directly to the organs of menstruation. It is a legitimate prescription, and the most intelligent Doctors use it. Prepared by J. H. Bradfield, druggist, Atlanta, Ga; $1 50 per bottle, and sold by respectable druggists everywhere.

MR. L. H. BRADFIELD—Sir: Please forward us, immediately, another supply of BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR. We find it to be all that is claimed for it, and we have witnessed the most decided and happy effects produced by it. Very respectfully,

HUNTER & ALEXANDER.

I could add a thousand other certificates; but I consider the above amply sufficient proof of its virtue. All I ask is a trial.

DR. TUTT'S EXPECTORANT.

A distinguished Clergyman of New York, speaking of this remedy characterizes it as "one of the special blessings of the nineteenth century." The certainty of its healing effect, said he, and the immunity from danger, whether administered to children or adults, adapt it for the widely popular use it has attained." None would long suffer from lung complaint if they knew how easily they can be cured by this remedy. By its timely use all pulmonary diseases may be arrested and consumption—the scourge that sweeps away thousands every year—would be checked in its beginning. Persons with a seated cough, which breaks their rest at night, will find by taking the Expectorant on going to bed they will enjoy unbroken sleep and refreshing rest. Having a very pleasant taste, it is easily administered to children. Sold by all druggists. Labratory 48 and 50 Cortlandt street, New York. febl-deod&wly

640 Prizes, amounting in the aggregate to $126,000 00

MODE OF DRAWING.

There will be upon the stage two glass wheels, the contents of which can be seen by all the spectators, committees of two citizens, in no way connected with the management, and of undoubted integrity, first counted and examined, will place in the larger wheel 12,600 tickets exactly similar, and having printed numbers from one to 12,600 corresponding to all the tickets sold. A similar committee, having first counted and examined, will place in tubes precisely alike the prizes which are placed in the smaller wheel. Both wheels will then be turned until their contents are thoroughly mixed. A boy under fifteen years of age, blindfolded, will then draw from the larger wheel one of the 12,600 tickets, and handing it up in full view of the spectators, will declare its number to the crier appointed for this purpose, so that all present may hear. The number will then be passed to the committee of citizens, who will see whether the number has been rightly called. It will then be passed to a registrar, who will file it, and record it upon a book prepared for that purpose. A boy of similar age will then draw from the smaller wheel one of the tubes containing a prize, which will be opened and held up to the view of the spectators and auditors. The value of the real estate prize will then be declared, and passed to the committee, who after inspection, will give it to another registrar to file and record. The ticket drawn will belong to the ticket bearing the same number drawn immediately before it. Thus this process will continue, drawing first from the large wheel containing the tickets, and then from the small or prize wheel until all the tubes containing the prizes are drawn. An accurate record of the above will be kept on file, certified to by the committee of disinterested citizens officiating.

The Prizes below $300 in value are approximations, and will be determined and paid as follows: The numbers of all the Tickets sold being considered in a circle, numerically formed, and having the highest number, 12,600, and the lowest, 1, brought together, then whatever number in this circle may be drawn will be entitled to the Capital Prize of $25,000 will be taken as a center, on each side of which the next 300 numbers in numerical order will be counted for the $10 Prizes, this making on the two sides of the Capital the 600 nearest numbers, each of which will be entitled to a Real Estate Prize of $10. All the Tickets drawing larger Prizes will be excluded, and the circle extended to include 600 on both sides of the Capital, being 300 on each side, it being the purpose of the management not to duplicate Prizes.

MONEY—All money received from sale of Tickets will be deposited in Bank immediately on receipt of remittances.

TRANSFER OF TITLES.—Within ten days after the drawing, parties putting Real Estate on the market under this Scheme, are required to make good, valid and unincumbered titles thereto to the Georgia Real Estate and Immigration Company—said Company obligating themselves to transfer such title in fee simple to the party or parties who may draw such Prize of Real Estate.
